HUTMAN ACTS TO CLOSE HOTEL ARTHUR, NIGHT LIFE RESORT

COURT IS ASKED TO ISSUE AN INJUNCTION

Vice and Drug Charges Named in a Petition Filed by Attorney Leo Schwartz

An injunction against the Hotel Arthur, one of the centers of Boston night life, was sought today in Suffolk court by Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman.

For the complainant, Atty. Leo Schwartz, legal adviser, filed a bill in equity through which he hoped to close the hotel as a "vicehouse."

The petition is sworn by the Boston Police Commissioner.

It is the first action against a downtown hotel by police since the Revere House closing in 1919 when it was carried to Supreme Court.

The bill charges the Arthur is used by salaried buyers of drugs for keeping and exposing drugs for sale and for vice, liquor and gaming.

The Boston restaurant, 684 Washington st., against which action was taken by Commissioner Hultman, has been closed.

Nathan M. Burton, trustee of the Robert F. Brigham estate, informed Atty. Schwartz today that the proprietors of the restaurant, Ben Chin and Chin Fook, were ordered from the building.

ERIN'S HOLIDAY MAY BE 'WET'

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 16 (AP)—The Saerastri may drown the Shamrock tomorrow if the Dail gives an expected decision some time today on a bill legalizing open public houses for a few hours on St. Patrick's Day.

Otherwise Ulster, where liquor restriction laws are less strict, will be the only sections of the Emerald Isle which can carry out the old custom with the usual open public houses.

This year's St. Patrick's Day promises to be one of the happiest in years. The past year has been marked with loss of the political turmoil of other years.

U. S. Gets First Film of Mass Celebration

New York, March 16 (AP)—Pr. J. Wilson Brady of St. Thomas Church, Minneapolis, came home today from nine weeks in Rome with the first moving picture ever made of the celebration of the mass.

It was filmed, he said, in the Colosseum Church of St. Isador, the Paulist Church in Rome, after he had obtained special permission from the Vatican. The picture will be shown as a part of church work and in connection with lectures.

Had a mass of real mass, he said, when, say for St. Isador, he saw the real estate owners of the Colosseum.

Vermont Girl's Story Fails to Solve Mystery

Hazel Alexander is the 16-year-old farm girl whose startling story reopened investigation of the mystery of Chester, Vt., where the body of a girl was found in a field 19 months ago. Hazel's statements have been described as a "dream."

WIFE SHOT, MAN KILLS SELF

Washington, March 16 (INS)—William H. von Bayer, 35, associate forester of the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the Department of the Interior, shot and "seriously wounded" his wife, Gertrude, in their apartment this afternoon, then turned the gun on himself, ending his life.

An Mrs. von Bayer was removed in an ambulance to Emergency Hospital where she seemed something to detectives about a suicide pact.

In the ambulance she kept talking about not being able to live without each other. Mrs. von Bayer was shot in the back, the ambulance surgeon said.

Von Bayer shot himself in the head, dying instantly. In the living room of their luxurious apartment, he had been ill and had not been at his office for about two weeks, police learned. They were unable, however, to ascribe any motive for the shooting. Von Bayer was a graduate of Cornell and Yale universities.

"Why did you tell that story about me?" Because every word of it is true and because they asked me about it," the girl answered.

"Well, it isn't true and you know it," said "Calamity." "Calamity" insisted that Hazel had not seen him on the five mile road, that he had nothing whatever to do with the murder, that he didn't know what chloroform was for, that he had never heard of any Catherine Lavellie and, finally, that he was too old to go on "what folks call whoopee parties."

'Lucy Stoners' Fight to Keep Maiden Name

DIST. ATTY. EDGERTON
Dist. Atty. Ernest Gibson of Windham County and Lawrence F. Edgerton of Windsor County are the prosecutors who have been investigating the latest amazing angle of the Vermont death mystery. They now declare that Hazel Alexander's version of the death is a hoax. The girl named a man but he was freed. (Staff photo.)

THERE'S SOMETHING IN A NAME THEY SAY

MRS. HAWKINS
The Lucy Stoners battled valiantly today before the legislative election laws committee to retain the names they were born with, but their names will be changed. In fact, we have the name retention bill. (Staff photo.)

A. & P. Stores Score in License Fight

Washington, March 16 (AP)—The Supreme Court today consented to review the appeal of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company and others attacking the validity of the North Carolina law requiring chain stores to be licensed at a cost of $50 each.

Berne Dance Halls Put Under Curfew

Berne, Switzerland, March 16—The curfew for dance halls now lights at midnight. Authorities have tightened up on amusement places. They assess higher taxes if liquor is sold on the premises.

Johnson Has Fair Night in Hospital

St. Louis, March 16 (AP)—Ben Johnson, former president of the American League, had a fair night, but his condition remained critical today at St. John's Hospital here.

'CINDERELLA' IS HELD IN CELL

Nice, France, March 16 (AP)—Doubt that Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nordlinger, American beauty held for the fatal shooting of her husband, would be released on bail pending the outcome of her case, was expressed today by her counsel after a conference in her cell.

No charges have been brought against the former St. Louis girl, who contends she fired in self-defense Tuesday, when she slew the 36-year-old Philadelphia theater owner.

Her counsel, Louis Gaslin, said witnesses were necessary to prove self-defense, and in this case there were none. The 26-year-old woman and her husband were alone in their bedroom when the shooting occurred.

It was reported today by friends of Mrs. Nixon-Nordlinger that her husband had settled a considerable sum of money on her at the time of their divorce several years ago, which was followed by their marriage, but that the money had been sent to her mother in America for safeguarding.

Parachute Jumper Has Narrow Escape

Atlanta, March 15 (AP)—An unfortunate man was given a narrow escape at Chandler Field today as he watched himself plummet down 1,000 feet earthward in a tangle of parachute and tangled lines. Airmen said Plunkett was about 20 feet from the ground when one of his parachutes finally opened. He was not injured.

Hoover Aide

Theodore G. Joslin of Boston has been appointed by President Hoover to be his secretary to succeed George Akerson, who resigned to accept a position with a moving picture company.

JOSLIN NEW HOOVER AIDE

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Theodore G. Joslin, Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript, has been selected by President Hoover to be his secretary, succeeding George Akerson, who resigned.

Joslin is a veteran Washington correspondent and for the last several years has also done magazine work.

He succeeds George Akerson, who resigned to take an important executive position with a large moving picture organization. Akerson was also a newspaper man.

The President's new secretary is 41 years old. He has been the political correspondent of the Boston Transcript since about 1915.

Before that time he was a correspondent for the Associated Press. Joslin is a graduate of Leominster High School. In 1912, Joslin married, Rosemary A. Hayes of Reading. They have two sons, Richard Hayes and Robert Edwards.

Joslin was at the Boston office of the Transcript today when word of his appointment was received. Congratulations were showered upon him by his colleagues.

"President Hoover has given me a signal honor," he said. "I shall serve him to the best of my ability. I came to Boston to confer with the editor of the Boston Evening Transcript prior to the White House announcement. I shall return to Washington tonight."

Marched in rain early today continued the celebration of its own particular holiday. Evacuation Day, which began last night with historic exercises in Broad way Theater.

With flags and bustling decorating buildings throughout the district, and residents keeping "open house" preparations were made for tomorrow's big event, the annual historic parade.

Contrary to custom, the parade will be ushered in with a "night before" banquet of the South Boston Citizens' Association to be held tonight in Hotel Bradford. In the past the affair has been held on the night of March 15.

A large number of public officials, headed by Governor Ely, and Mayor Curley, are to attend tonight's gathering and listen to an address by James M. McLean, Portland, Me., historian and educator. The grandiose affair will be Arthur J. O'Keefe.

The event falling on St. Patrick's Day takes on double significance for residents of the district, and is celebrated accordingly.

The biggest event of the celebration, as usual, is the parade, which this year will be the largest ever staged in late peninsula district.

The committee in charge has arranged for the most colorful and pouring in the history of the district, with 16 floats in the procession representing practically every business house and organization.

Heading the parade as chief marshal will be Edward J. Connelley, followed by some 900 uniformed members of the district's various organizations, including the Massachusetts National Training School and schoolboy cadets will wind through the streets in martial display.

Gold star mothers and veterans of the Civil and World Wars will also be in line, together with the Boston fire department and various other organizations.

Boy Scout organizations will find out the divisions, which will be followed by the civic section in charge of John J. Sullivan.

Last night's exercises were attended by a crowd which filled the Broadway Theater. Mayor Curley was unable to be present because of a severe cold, and was represented by his son, John Curley, at Canterbury School, Milton, C. W. House, headmaster. Dr. Joseph Hume, was the chief speaker.

Three Boston school children were awarded gold, silver and bronze medals for prize essays on the evacuation of Boston 150 years ago. Presentations were made by Charles O. Halloran, chairman of the judges, to Edward O'Donnell, Elmer Rafferty and Mary Hale. Pen and pencil aids, donated by Mayor Curley, were awarded to three other children, who received honorable mention.

LINGLE MURDER TRIAL OPENS

Criminal Court, Chicago, March 15 (AP)—Leo Brothers went on trial for the Alfred ("Jack") Lingle murder today amid excitement which in the new criminal court building had never seen before.

Although an evidence was expected for at least a week, a large crowd jammed the corridors leading to the courtroom long before the opening. Extra bailiffs were needed to keep order.

The trial held unusual interest not only was the assassination of Lingle, Tribune crime reporter, one of the most spectacular of recent killings, but it was also the first big gang shooting actually to result in a murder trial.

Charlestown Youth Held in $10,000 Bond

John J. Ahearn, 39, of Charlestown, who was arrested at gun point yesterday, was held today in $10,000 bail for the grand jury by Judge M. E. Murtagh in Somerville District Court.

He was charged with carrying a loaded revolver and larceny of an automobile owned by Charles Connelly of Allston. The car was found abandoned in Somerville.

Mayor Names 3 to Deer Island Posts
Because of the increase in the number of prisoners now confined at Deer Island, three additional posts for that place are to be appointed immediately, Mayor Curley announced today. At the present time there are nine prisoners at the island.

Public Works Force Give Cash for Idle

A committee representing 400 persons employed in the public works department of the city called on Mayor Curley today and informed him that by a unanimous vote of the workers it had been decided that each of them will contribute one day's pay to the relief fund of the city. The money will be disbursed under the direction of the public works Commissioner Joseph A. Journe.

Could Write a Book About It

"Nine years ago after my little girl was born dead, I took Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about four months. The next year I became the mother of a fine 11 pound baby boy. After he was born, I kept on with the medicine to build me up. Four months ago I was nervous and rundown and suffered from other troubles which I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would relieve so I started taking it. Now I feel fine again. My dear friends could write a book on the good the Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. W. C. As a result of a crash while on a "joy ride" with two girls and another boy, Vincent Marille, 17, Center st., Randolph, was fined $50 in court today and given until May 23 to pay. The fines were assessed after he was permitted to plead note to two charges, using an automobile, the property of a garage company, without authority and driving without a license. The crash occurred in Weymouth yesterday.

Boxing Sisters

Madras, India, March 15 (AP)—Boxing India is literally up to the ears to extricate two sisters, Kamala and Sita Bai, because they engaged in a six-round fight at the White City carnival here yesterday.

"That Hindu women, most conservative of all their Easterners, should have the boxing ring has shocked even India's men," said a British official. "I don't know how it has happened, but it is, I think, the first time in the history of the world that women have boxed."

TWO BURRELL CASE HIT BY SIMON SWIG

also urged its passage. The committee took it under consideration. Burrell, who lives in Medford, resigned under fire in 1920. Last fall he was nominated by the Republicans and was defeated by Arthur, a Democrat, in November. His charge that he was offered $50,000 to quit was made at a State House hearing last week.

"Why shouldn't I be satisfied Mr. Burrell was offered the $50,000, when I was urged to do something I thought was wrong?" said Swig at today's hearing.

IN MIDNIGHT PARLEY
 "Now, I am going to tell some names myself. I was asked by Bank Commissioner Allen and Atty-Gen. Wyman to prevail on Burrell to resign. I was told that was the wish of Governor Coolidge."

"I was told Burrell was a detriment to the Republican party. I saw no reason why he should resign, but inasmuch as the bank commissioner had asked me, and had asked John R. McVey of the Old South also, I made the attempt."

"There was not time to do but to speak to Burrell, because I feared the consequences to the Tremont Trust Co. if I didn't. I got Mr. Burrell and Mr. Wyman there, and we were there till after midnight."

"Burrell did not want to resign. He saw no reason why he should. I used every effort. I felt obliged to do so. Burrell finally broke down and asked me to send for his brother, the doctor. He gave me his resignation and I turned it over to Attorney-General Wyman."

THOUGHT IT WRONG
 "Wyman asked me to go to the State House. I know that Governor Coolidge will want to thank me for this great service," he said. But I didn't want any reward. All I did was to protect the institution of which I was custodian."

"I thought it wrong at the time. If there was anything wrong with Mr. Burrell, they should have tried to impeach him. Swig added that he himself was 'destroyed and ruined' without justification, and said the public should be told 'what is going on.'"

Rep. Logan asked Atty. Gen. Warren for saying he was not interested in Burrell's charge. He said he had invited Chairman Amos L. Taylor of the Republican State Committee to appear at the hearing. Taylor was not present.

WANTS NAME GIVEN

"If he reads his statement for sensational purposes, Burrell should be discredited," said Logan. "In that case he should be barred from appearing before legislative committees in the future. But if the money were offered, he should know the name of the man who offered it."

Treasurer Hurley said he had known Mrs. Burrell as a girl in Cambridge, and if she confirmed her husband's statement he would believe the story was true. Burrell had said his wife was present when the $50,000 offer was made.

"The State is entitled to know all the facts about this," said Hurley. "It is entitled to know if any offer were made, whether any money was paid or bond house or anyone else was involved."

Ash Wagon Driver Fights 3 Policemen

Frank Smith, driver of an ash wagon for the city of Lynn and president of the Lynn City Employees Union, was pulled from his wagon today by Supt. William H. Fogarty and two policemen and looked in a cell at the police station charged with drunkenness. Fogarty said he noticed Smith's alleged intoxication in South Common and ordered him from the wagon. Smith refused to leave his seat, and, according to Fogarty, struck him in the eye. Fogarty went for help and returning with two officers, subdued Smith after a struggle.

Warrant for Him

Eli Allen Smith, 29, Worcester attorney, who has been missing for several days. A warrant for his arrest has been issued on charges of forgery.

Worcester, March 16.—With a warrant for forgery out for his arrest, Eli Allen Smith, 29, Worcester attorney, has been missing for several weeks. It became known today. Smith, who was an honor graduate of Harvard Law School a few years ago, vanished from his home in Derby at the middle of the night, according to his family. He is believed to have gone to Boston.

Frissell Believed to Have Been After Labrador Films

New York, March 16 (AP)—Varick Frissell of New York, whose chartered sealer Viking was reported today to have exploded at sea, has conducted explorations along the Labrador coast for several years. He is a Yale graduate and a fellow of the Royal Geographic Society.

Last year a Varick Frissell expedition left New York in January and returned in March with a photographic and sound record of the Labrador sealers at work capturing seals on ice floes 100 miles off the coast of Labrador. Capt. Robert A. Bartlett, who captained Peary's ship in the North Pole expedition, was captain for Frissell.

It was believed in motion picture circles Frissell was in the north making animal pictures. Last year he exhibited "The Silent Hammy" and the year before "Vikings of the North," both of which were made with native characters in the Hudson's Bay country.

Sealer Viking 586 Tons, 156 Feet Long; 50 Years Old

New York, March 16 (AP)—Lloyd's Registrar of shipping lists a wooden auxiliary Viking barkentine owned by Bowring, Brothers, Ltd., of St. John's, N. F. Representatives of the owners, the ship was built for service in the sealing industry. It is 586 tons gross register, 156 feet long and was built in 1881.

MAN PICKED FOR PARKER'S POST

Public Works Commissioner Frank E. Lyman indicated today that he already had selected, from a host of candidates, the successor to Motor Vehicle Registrar George A. Parker.

He said he expected to send the name of his nominee to the Governor and council so they may not divulge his choice.

Registrar Parker asked to be relieved of his duties after being named a trustee of the Lottia Crabtree estate. His resignation, constituting a 30-day notice, is now before the Governor.

Applications for the post have been received by Commissioner Lyman from all over the State. One of the most prominently mentioned is Capt. Charles T. Beazley of the State police.

2161 Sacks of Rum Ordered Forfeited

Thousands of gallons of liquor went begging when owners were sought for it in Federal Court today. The contraband, seized by Federal agents, consisted of 2161 sacks, containing 31,864 points or 414,912 drinks, together with 383 packages of assorted foreign liquors.

When a cruder in Judge Lowell's session of court called on owners to come forward and claim their liquor, no one responded.

Cafe Owner and 2 Deny They Sold Rum

Charged with keeping and exposing liquor, Joseph Mondak, manager of a Winchester at cafe, and Viola Vahl, an employee, pleaded not guilty before Judge James Barrett in Municipal Court today. David Harrison, another employee, was charged with making a liquor sale, and pleaded not guilty. The three were continued to March 25.

F. G. FESSENDEN EX-JURIST, DIES

Greenfield, Mass., March 16 (AP)—Franklin Goodrich Fessenden, 85, a retired associate justice of the superior court, died at his home today.

Justice Fessenden was born in Fitchburg, studied there and at Paris, was graduated in 1873 from the Harvard Law School and opened a law office in Fitchburg. The next year he moved to this city and became a partner with Wendell Thornton Davis.

In 1875 he married Miss Mary J. Rowley, who died several years ago. Gov. William K. Russell named Mr. Fessenden to the bench in 1891. He was a trustee of the Smith charities and a trustee and vice-president of the Franklin Savings Institution.

SCHEINER HERE TO FACE TRIAL

Dr. Nathan Scheiner, who conducted a drug store in West Somerville and acted as clerk-in-charge of contract station 73 of the Boston postoffice there, was brought here from Pomona, Cal., today to answer a federal indictment charging theft of postal funds totaling $78,812.

Scheiner was indicted last August and on Sept. 5 was arrested, pleaded not guilty in court and was released in $2500 bail. When the case was called for trial he had vanished.

Early this month he walked into a police station in Pomona and said he wished to return to Boston for trial, but had no funds to come here.

Federal authorities were notified and brought him back. He was committed to East Cambridge Jail.

Burlington School Bill Given Hearing

A school law in Burlington was aired today before the joint legislative committees on municipal finance when two factions in the town appeared in connection with a bill to permit the borrowing of $75,000 to build a high school. The 17 high school pupils are now being cared for in Lexington at a cost of $185 per pupil a year.

TO THE MOTHERS of Greater Boston

On this truth, the scientific world agrees:—

For good health, you need either plenty of mid-day sunshine, or you need some other source of that vital food-element scientifically known as vitamin-D.

With plenty of this sunshine vitamin, most grownups are likely to enjoy better health. In the case of children, it is even more essential.

Until now, no table food has provided enough of this vital element. The yolks of eggs have come nearest. But it would take dozens of eggs a day to give you as much of this sunshine vitamin as one loaf of Bond Bread now provides.

Two slices of Bond Bread each meal now give you the additional vitamin-D you need; and yet 200 slices a meal would not give you too much.

During the past week, practically every doctor in Greater Boston has enjoyed the improved Bond Bread in his home. And thousands of regular Bond Bread users have known about it, and have been eating it right along.

All have been pleased to find that the bread has exactly the same delicious flavor as before. Naturally so. You could not possibly taste this new health-source any more than you could taste sunshine itself.

Like sunshine and mountain air, this improvement will not work magic over-night. Enjoyed regularly, day in and day out, its healthful effect on sun-starved humans is known and proved beyond question.

And best of all, Bond Bread brings this to you at no extra price.

CHILDREN ESPECIALLY

Although this news is important to adults, it is of vital concern to children. Authorities throughout the world attest to that fact.

To Whom It May Concern:-

We have bestowed upon the General Baking Company the exclusive right to make available to the American public through Bond Bread and other bread, that vital food element known as the "sunshine" vitamin, or vitamin "D".

We assume the responsibility continuously to analyze the product to insure and guarantee that all such loaves made shall supply said vital food element to the degree that our research has proved to be adequate and efficacious.

Since ours is a non-profit institution, our paramount interest is public service.

Sandwiches with Irish Flavor

From Martha Lee's Monday Morning Broadcast Over Station WEE.

Reading over the menu contained in a Joyous-old cookbook I'm giving special thanks that gone are the days when entertainment and elaboration in entertaining were considered the mark of the perfect hostess. Today, praise be, simplicity is the smart thing both in entertaining and in the family meal.

One of the most delightful women I know, and incidentally one who pays a sizable income tax, simply invites friends who have dropped in for an evening bridge to "come into the kitchen" and forage for themselves.

At other times she assembles but offerings on the dining room table with her best candle sticks and a generous assortment of stacked plates, silver and napkins, and ten everyone helps themselves and on where they like. This type of buffet supper usually includes an assortment of tempting hors d'oeuvres, dairy salads, sandwiches, a hot dish, a cold dessert and tea or coffee.

Here are a few recipes especially adapted for this type of entertainment.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY SANDWICHES

Slice white bread thin and shape with a shamrock cookie cutter. Mash cream cheese and add just fully enough green coloring to give it a delicate shade of green. Spread with softened butter and then with colored cheese. Color another portion of the cheese a darker green and use to decorate the sandwiches by forcing through a pastry bag, using a very small tip.

NEW BREAD SANDWICHES

1 cup preserved pineapple
1 cup chopped dates.
Combine ingredients and spread only on nut bread.

Faithfully yours,
Martha Lee

P. S.—I'm making up a few recipes especially adapted to prepare in your electric refrigerator and I'll gladly send you a copy if you'll just drop me a line enclosing that convenient loose-leaf stamp.

ON GRADUATION PROGRAM

Mae Wyan, of Rogers and Wyan, will do her bit for the Martha Lee graduation exercises this week.

Martha Will Graduate Two Classes This Week

There will be much merrymaking and grand doings at Martha's graduation exercises this week, from all the preparations and what-nots going on this week-end.

A specially arranged entertainment program comes from the Scollay St. Theatre through the courtesy of Pauline Theatre. The same program will be presented by Joe May and Doty, well-known Broadway entertainers, who will present a special comedy show, "Laughs From Abroad."

George Gould and Stanley Schultz, Public Playboys, will be on hand to give several song and piano selections.

The same program will be repeated for the Wednesday afternoon class. And we mustn't forget to tell you about the other entertainment provided for both classes.

Tuesday evening the H. P. Hood Co. will present a moving picture, and Wednesday afternoon they will show a real talkie, and hood's delicious ice cream, which they have so generously donated at previous graduations, will be served. Cookies are coming from Loose-Wiler, the Sunshine Biscuit makers, and a couple of Tetter's tea and Oatmeal will be given away.

Our good friend, Mr. Frank Archer, Sr., has come forth, as usual, with 10 cases of Mead to be given as prizes to lucky members and visitors, and besides has furnished the Puroxina ginger ale, which will provide part of the refreshments.

Herewith is the solution to Saturday's puzzle.

St. Patrick's Day Parties Popular

St. Pat's is a grand day to give a party! Let's plan one together! First, about the entertainment—of course, there never was a St. Pat's party without a potato race. Potato ten pin is also a good game. For this choose rather large potatoes. Stick three toothpicks into each one so they will stand up. Arm the contestants with small potatoes, arrange the ten pins any way you like. Another potato race is to give each guest a narrow ribbon, about a yard and a half long and have one very large turnip potato. The guest must take up this potato with the ribbon and carry it a certain distance.

There should be forfeits for the losers in these games, and here is a suggestion for a buffet supper:

Last Call for Spring Term of School

Applications are piling in thick and fast for enrollment cards in the spring term of the Martha Lee Cooking Classes which open April 7th and 8th. While visitors are always welcome to the school, it is necessary to have an enrollment card to secure credit for your attendance and be eligible for the Martha Lee diploma which is awarded to those attending seven of the lessons. There is a Tuesday evening class from 7:30 to 8:15 p. m., intended primarily for brides and business girls and women who can not attend the Wednesday afternoon homemakers' class which is held from 2:30 to 4:00.

These lessons will cover all forms of practical, modern cooking from soup to nuts with special menus and recipes for bridge parties, Sunday dinners, salads, cake and sandwiches, as well as the staple meal—fish, vegetable, bread and dessert. There is no charge for the lessons but you must act promptly by sending your name in to Martha Lee for your enrollment card. If you wish to be among those who will enjoy these cooking matinees this spring.

New Bread an Aid to Children

Beginning today the new vitamin-D bread will be generally available in Greater Boston and the adjacent communities served by the two Boston bakeries of the General Baking Co. Subsequently, as rapidly as operating conditions permit, the new product will be supplied in the entire output of the company's other bakeries throughout the United States.

The under-developed and under-nourished children in the Boston Health Units will receive the new bread. Dr. Francis Mahoney, the health commissioner, has announced, and it will also be used for the children of the Salvation Army Day Nursery on Standford st., according to Maj. McDonald, of that institution.

More than 70 other institutions in and around Boston will also get vitamin-D in their ordinary white bread today.

MYSTERY DEATH OF PAULINE KEYES

A Reporter's Story of a Famous Brookline Murder Case

By PAUL WHELTON
(Who has been on the case since the first day)

(The finding of the body of Pauline Keyes, wife of less than a year, in her Brookline home, with a purported suicide note beside her, was described yesterday in the initial installment of this 1917 mystery.)

Pauline Keyes was right-handed, but this fact was dug up by newspapermen, not by police—or at least if the police did discover this to be true, they never gave it out. There were many things the police did not give out until confronted with the facts themselves.

Two bullet holes were completely through the right hand. There were powder marks on the back of the hand. She was shot twice in the right side of the head, other wounds being sufficient to cause immediate unconsciousness, thus precluding the possibility of her having been able to fire a second shot into her brain.

Yet Dr. Cutler, the medical examiner, pronounced the case of the murder of Miss Keyes. He and then Sergt. M. Allen Rutherford of the Brookline police bluntly asserted, "The medical examiner gave permission to have the body cremated and did not retain any of the organs, even the stomach, to test the food consumed to determine time of death."

AUTOPSY ORDERED

Newspaper reporters covering the case impressed the two-bullet-in-the-head phase of the case and the powder marks on the hand of the right hand so strongly upon them that they were able to obtain permission to have the body cremated and did not retain any of the organs, even the stomach, to test the food consumed to determine time of death.

Meanwhile, in the tragedy dining room, three bullets had been recovered, two in the brain of Mrs. Keyes and one taken from a panel of the room, four feet four inches up from the floor. They were copper-jacketed local bullets. Two similar bullets were still in the five-shot Smith & Wesson revolver on the dining room table and three empty cartridges.

It was six days before the police reluctantly were forced away from their suicide theory, six previous days in which might have been done, but they did establish that at about noon on the murder morning, George H. Keyes, a prominent Boston Common Miss Harriet Varnay, nurse and admitted mistress of the realtor.

This meeting made famous, for a time, a honey restaurant to Charles, because much was made in the testimony of Keyes having ordered a ham and spinach dinner for her, and that she having declined to eat it on appeal that she was not hungry.

The meeting was within two hours of the time established as that when Mrs. Keyes died, and was before Keyes had learned of the death of his bride.

After leaving Keyes, Harriet Varnay went to Mattapan where she obtained a position as nurse in a sanatorium. She left the job next morning, however, without explanation and without giving any notice.

PROMISED TO MARRY

According to evidence introduced by the prosecution at the trial, Keyes and Harriet Varnay had lived together at various times and he had promised to marry her when she should secure a divorce from his first wife.

The divorce came in 1916, but Keyes did not reveal it to the nurse, according to the prosecution. Instead, in 1916, he eloped with the confidential secretary to New York and kept this quiet also from Miss Varnay.

When Keyes and his bride returned to Boston after a honeymoon through the West, he met Miss Varnay accidentally at the dog show in Mechanics Building and there lived for her, according to the prosecution, that he had gone back to "live with my wife."

Miss Varnay was alleged to have grown suspicious, to have consulted

A Man's White Hands Taught Us This Secret

For many years the assistants in one of the laboratories of the U. S. Navy, at Cambridge, Mass., have had smooth, white hands, even in winter. Investigation showed that these assistants, whose hands were smooth and white were handling sea moss daily. A soft, soothing salt water, which, tested disclosed, had wonderful properties for the skin.

This led to the formulation of Neptis Lotion, a combination of sea moss and water. A few drops of Neptis Lotion rubbed into any dry, cracked, or chapped skin, restores the suppleness and softness of the skin. Neptis Lotion is a dandy way to keep the hands from showing the signs of age.

Moods to Be Expressed by Hair

LONDON, March 16 (U.S.)—Are we frivolous today? Then let us be blondes. Are we depressed? Then let us be dark. Are we in that "come hither" mood? Then let us be brunettes.

So should the modern woman change the color of her hair to express her varying mood. If she would adopt the "harmonious hair" theory of Sir Thomas Oliver, president of the Durham University college of medicine.

The wife of the British judge and barrister, in Sir Thomas' opinion, confer on the wearers a feeling of importance. Why, therefore, he asks, should not a woman put her hair to her mood—even she made it stand on end?

Sir Thomas further believes that changing the coloring of the hair is the best way to indicate the shifting emotions.

GO BACK TO WED APRIL 11

By CHLOEY KNECKENBACHER Universal Service Society Editor

New York, March 16.—It seems but yesterday that Gladys Vanderbilt, youngest daughter of the dowager Mrs. Vanderbilt, was united in matrimony with Count Laslo Banchetti on that very cold day in January in the chateau-like structure at Fifth and 57th st., while her former fiancée, the Countess Alice Banchetti, was in the city.

Yet, it is all of 23 years since Gladys, who is the most ultra of the new American society, became the wife of the Hungarian nobleman, who since 1923 has been Hungarian minister to the United States.

Count will be issuing invitations to the marriage of their second daughter, Countess Alice Banchetti, for Alice and Count Bela Hadyk of Budapest, whose betrothal was announced on February 14, have decided to be made as on April 11 down in Washington.

The future Countess Hadyk, who is a niece of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and of Sir Philip Corbett, is related to several of the most powerful Hungarian families whose estates in the former Austro-Hungarian empire were among the most extensive.

BYRD IN $25,000 BLACK CLAIM

Baltimore, March 16 (AP)—A claim for $25,000 has been filed in behalf of Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, it was disclosed today against the estate of Van Lear Black, publisher and aviation enthusiast.

The claim filed in Orphans' Court was based on a letter to Byrd which was said to state the publisher would donate $25,000 should there be a deficit following the Byrd Antarctic expedition.

After Black's death last August he fell from his yacht, attorneys for the executor learned of the letter and asked Byrd to submit it to a court. They were convinced, it was said today, the letter constituted a legitimate claim.

ART EXHIBIT HELD OVER

More art lovers of Boston are to delay casting their votes for the painting they like best in the exhibition at Jordan Marsh Co. galleries, held over for another week because of the great interest shown by more than 20,000 visitors during the past week. At a little past 10 o'clock Miss Dorothy Ball, supervising everyone to cast a vote for his first choice among the 165 subjects shown by contemporary New England artists. A card prize of $200 has been donated by Ralph C. Hudson, executive vice-president of Jordan's, for the picture receiving the most "most votes" came so fast yesterday that Miss Ball needed the assistance of Howard Pickett, assistant supervisor, to take care of the ballots.

Other features of art "week" remain at this store until Saturday, except the demonstration of diamond designing in plastic clay by the nationally famous sculptor "Lager" Selinger, who left for his New York studio today. Miss Stella Charnin shows how Oriental rugs are woven on an old loom from owned by her husband, and Francis Peavey, blind student of Arlington Institute, weaves rugs on the fifth floor Annex.

GIRLS ROWL FOR BEAUTY

Capt. Dorothy Buckley of the au-

ding office bowling team of private today challenged the challenge office team to bowl for the championship of the store. Capt. Buckley has a strong team and sport some interest. She herself consistently knocks down a score

"Bowl for beauty" has long been the slogan of these girls, each of whom gives a different reason for her enthusiasm for the game. Edna Ryan bowls because "it is a form of expression"; Pauline Nicholas (think bowling is a fine sport for reducing) Jean Beaton enjoys knocking them down the alley with what is known as a "speed ball" and Rose Carroll finds winning stimulating.

Lillian Kirby, cheer leader, supports the team supporters as Alice Harrington, Gertrude Hayes, Alleen Powers, Mary McEneaney and Marguerite McDonald.

Charles Canavan, who has been connected with this store for 15 years, has been appointed buyer for the upstairs shoe department in addition to his duties as buyer for the basement store.

PROMOTIONS AT FILLENS

Five organizational changes are announced by William H. Babby, personnel superintendent of William Filless Sons Co., effective today.

Cyrus Smith is promoted from merchandise clerk to acting assistant buyer of men's shoes in the basement store.

George Hays, who was buyer of men's shoes until transferred to the basement merchandise staff, will continue having the buying responsibility for the department in addition to his new duties.

Almgrey Hooker is promoted from stock to assistant to Mr. Libbey, superintendent of the Men's Store, replacing Leon Nigati, transferred.

Leon Nigati becomes assistant buyer of men's furnishings, replacing Daniel Neal, transferred to the merchandise staff.

Morris Slotnick is promoted from merchandise clerk and sale in assistant buyer in the Little Shoe Shop, replacing Leon Novogroski, resigned.

PROGRESSIVES SEEK REFORMS

Washington, March 16 (INS)—Sponsoring a national survey of unemployment, the Non-Partisan Progressives today formulated an ambitious program to submit to Congress in December.

They may demand a special session if the survey reveals growing distress among the unemployed. This program includes creation of a national economic council, passage of the Wagner bill for national employment agencies, the debarment form of farm relief, operation of Muscle Schools under government control and tariff revision, particularly on farm products, and repeal of the flexible tariff provision.

Other proposals are the Norris constitutional amendment, eliminating James duck sessions of Congress, an amendment giving Congress control over primaries, repeal of the wartime espionage act, a limit on federal injunctions in labor disputes and an amendment to abolish the electoral college and permit direct balloting for President.

THE PRICE OF BREAD

"It is A & P policy to reduce rather than increase prices of what the public wants most"

From an advertisement of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

What the public wants most, now and always, is bread. The A & P has recognized this by reducing the price of its 20-ounce loaf to 7 cents, and of its whole wheat loaf from 10 to 8 cents. * The big baking companies still resist price reduction. Labor costs, they say, have increased. (By how much?) And flour is "a relatively small factor in the cost of bread." (Are we to understand that flour is a relatively greater factor in A & P bread?)

The world price of wheat is the lowest in 357 years!

*As a matter of fact, A & P whole wheat bread in New England has been reduced to 7 cents.

Why pay more than for finest quality
white bread

A & P Food stores have no quarrel with any baker about the size of his loaf, the quality of his bread or the price he charges. We do, however, justly claim that Grandmother's Bread is equal in quality to any bread on the market and contains as fine materials.

It is a larger loaf than many selling for more money—twenty ounces of wholesome food in every loaf. At seven cents a loaf it is unquestionably one of the greatest bread values on the market today. The fact that New England uses more than 600,000 loaves of Grandmother's every day is proof that New England agrees with A & P that there is no sound reason for paying more than seven cents a loaf for real quality bread.

Scorpio Is Nervous as Jury Delays

By FRANCES MARION
(Adapted from the forthcoming Motion Picture "The Defense Rests")
The story is inevitably fiction, but the characters are real.

CHAPTER 22
"The Defense Rests"
IT WAS the fifth day of the trial.

Witnesses had testified to the gang rule in Scorpio; to the accession of Cento to the Colono organization. Cento dashed in and out, sending mysterious reports to a mysterious telephone number.

Annie was on the stand. Newton cross-examined.

"How long have you known Mr. Scorpio?" the attorney demanded.

"About four years."

"When that gangster was murdered there four years ago? You were employed by Mr. Franks then?"

"Yes."

"Did you know Hank Rogers?"

"Yes."

"Wherein you engaged to him?"

"Well, sort of."

"And at that time you were accepting money, weren't you, from Mr. Scorpio, to encourage Mr. Rogers—am I right?"

The girl hung her head. Her "yes" was scarcely audible. The court reporter asked her to repeat it.

"Yes."

"What rent do you pay?"

"Twenty thousand a year."

"You were at Mr. Scorpio's when they claim you overheard his threat against Hank Rogers?"

"Yes."

"You're a liar."

"Drove there in my limousine that Mr. Scorpio gave you—and more that big square—"

"He that ring an engagement ring from Mr. Scorpio?"

"Yes, I looked at it."

"Then say you had been engaged to Hank Rogers. Did you ever express any affection for him?"

"Yes—I loved him. I wasn't allowed to say that I loved him."

"That's why I warned him—and it he—"

"Newton interrupted. "That's all for the present! He sharply cried. The weeping girl left the witness stand."

Newton turned toward the jury, and slowly walked back. Speaking in almost confidential tones, he turned his gaze from one to the other.

"Scorpio Praised"

"The last witness," he remarked unceremoniously, revealed one of Mr. Scorpio's finest traits—an unselfish generosity. And you have heard the testimony of other witnesses, showing that Mr. Scorpio has given more than half a million dollars to private and public charities, with never a thought of praise or publicity.

But like many a kind man who has given freely, he has been disillusioned and betrayed. Take, for example, that filthy rat, who is willing to accept the testimony of this, ready to sacrifice the life of his own neck."

He trust you gentlemen of the jury will not make an error of judgment in this case. It has been attempted to prove Mr. Scorpio a blackguard, a hoodlum, and a public enemy. And yet I can prove to you, gentlemen, that he is a legitimate, established business man. His books are open for you to read. His dying and existing establishments cost $20,000 a year. His florist establishment on the North Side $25,000. Now, gentlemen—were he living in a hovel, are...

WIFE DIVORCED BY DEAF MUTE

Testifying through an interpreter, Everett G. Graves of Billerica, a deaf mute, was granted a divorce from his wife, Marie, on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. The couple were married in 1920. Since that time, according to Graves, his wife made numerous threats against his life, attacked him with a paper knife, beat, kicked and scratched him. He also told the court she had threatened to kill their two sons, six and nine years old. Graves cited a specific instance when he said she pulled him by the mouth with her head, knocking out two of his teeth. He testified that the continually embarrased him in public. Graves was given custody of her two children, both of whom are normal.

$50 Weekly for News and Picture Tips

Do you want to get money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American offers the opportunity. Each week $50 in prizes will be given for news and picture tips telephoned in to the News-Tip Editor at Liberty 4000.

What is a news tip? It's the information that something of interest to Greater Bostonians has taken place or will take place. Do you know, for instance, that an interesting picture is to be obtained, that an accident or an unusual event has happened, that there is going to be a business merger. That's a news tip.

If you have a camera, take a picture of some news event, while it is happening. Bring your action pictures to the American quick. Delay often spoils them for use.

There will be $15 given weekly for the best or the most unusual event news tip received; $10 for the next best; $5 for the next best, and $2 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips.

Public Works Head Tells the Legislature of Thorough-fares to Be Paved

Some streets in Boston are a disgrace to the city, Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke told the joint legislative committee on municipal affairs today in pleading for Mayor Currier's bill to allow the city to borrow $2,000,000 outside the debt limit.

This money would be expended in constructing new and reconstructing old streets, which would afford employment to many men now out of work.

Commissioner Rourke told the committee that one of the streets which is a "disgrace" is Northern ave. It will cost $250,000 to repave this thoroughfare with granite blocks, he said. It is also planned to repave Congress and Summer

AID TO JOBLESS

"In my opinion," said the commissioner, "prosperity starts with payrolls and there is no better way of helping the unemployed nation in this city than by permitting Boston to borrow the $2,000,000 outside the debt limit for reconstruction of streets."

"If any of you gentlemen sit in my office for one day and listened to the stories that I listen to from men out of work, you would understand the need for this money."

"We did 100 streets last year, new and old, and everyone in the engineering force worked overtime and did not get a cent for it. We did our utmost to get men at work."

RAV WADSWORTH

James A. Watson, former city councillor, praised Mayor Currier in favoring the bill. He said:

"I think the mayor has a vision unshared by any mayor who ever sat in Boston City Hall. He is up and doing all the time."

He criticized Eliot Wadsworth, a representative from the Back Bay, for his alleged declaration that the city should not spend money until the depression had passed.

"Mr. Wadsworth," said Watson, "lives in the Back Bay where there isn't a sidewalk that you can't roller skate on. He ought to live in Hyde Park where I do. Then he would have a different thought."

Among notable passengers on the liner Scythia landed in Boston today was Megan Foster, the English concert singer, en route to Bermuda to visit her husband, Capt. E. J. Spooner, D. S. O., of the warship Dragons. She plans a concert tour of the U. S.

GIRL STUDENT WINS $6500

An award of $6500 was made to Miss Dorothy Elken, 21, student at Katherine Gibbs School, Back Bay, today in her $20,000 damage suit against Miss Josephine Magri of 35 West Milton st., Hyde Park. Dr. Jerome T. Siverston of the Burwood Hospital, Brookline, who sought the same amount from Miss Magri, was awarded $225 by Judge Joseph Zottoli in Municipal court.

The auto arose from an automobile accident, October 13, when the car in which the plaintiffs were riding was struck by a machine operated by Miss Magri.

Miss Magri's father, Antonio, owner of the machine who was driving but who was not in the car was a co-defendant but Judge Zottoli found in his favor.

The accident occurred at the corner of West Milton and Blyden st., Hyde Park, Miss Elken and Dr. Siverston being thrown through the windshield.

Find McCann Guilty; Sentence Is Stayed

John H. McCann was found guilty of a serious charge involving a young girl today by a jury in Superior Court and was sentenced by Judge Harold F. Williams to term five to seven years in State Prison. The judge, however, stayed the sentence.

McCann was originally arraigned in lower court charged with assault on the battery on the girl, and was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction.

SCYTHIA BRINGS BIT OF ERIN

It being St. Patrick's Eve and all, a breath of old Ireland was brought today to Boston today when a group of Irish colliers arrived on the Commander Scythia, on their way to New York.

The colliers, however, did not leave the boat, which was disappointing, but they banded quite with the men on the dock, and laughingly expressed their regret that they could not take part in St. Patrick's celebration tomorrow.

The Scythia landed Mrs. Cyril Chadwick, wife of the stage and screen actor, who was last seen in Boston in "The Love Ghosts."

Another passenger landing here was Raymond Henniker-Reston, an expert on old pictures, who has just completed a business tour of the continent and who will visit Worcester.

Megan Foster, English concert singer of folk songs, also came ashore to pay Boston a visit of a few days before going to Bermuda to join her husband, Capt. E. J. Spooner, D. S. O., of M. S. Dragons, stationed there. A farewell will make a concert tour of the United States.

Children of 31 Nicholas st., Lowell, accompanied by his mother, Lillian L. Elliott, 31 and 32, came back on the Scythia involuntarily and because of a flaw in his papers. They will be fixed up and the four will leave again for Manchester, Eng., in two weeks.

Another passenger landing here was Miss Helen G. Field, daughter of Headmaster William O. W. Field of Milton Academy. She has ended a three months' tour of Europe.

Liese-Lotte Pilsen of Paris, who arrived on the Scythia in Germany, came ashore with her husband, George Traher, also an expert on old pictures, who has just completed a business tour of the continent and who will visit Worcester.

WOULD CHECK 'RECRUITING' OF YOUTH

Baker Foundation Speaker Tells Council of Women How to Stop Crime

The supply of juvenile recruits to Boston gangland could be stopped at its source by an official unit of policewomen detailed to protective work among the youth of the city, according to Dr. William Healy, a director of the Judge Baker Foundation, child guidance center.

Dr. Healy spoke today before the Massachusetts Council of Women the Women's Republican Club.

"At present, one member of a gang may be brought to court and he will be intelligently dealt with, but here is no organized effort to follow up the lead presented by such a boy and reclaim other members of his group," Dr. Healy declared.

"Such a protective unit, similar to those recently established in New York and Detroit, would follow up all such cases and, in addition, would keep an eye on youngsters in such as to prevent breeding places of trouble."

THREE GANGS HERE

"In general the situation now is that boys and girls must be caught in some wrongdoing before we can begin to do anything for them. It is somewhat as if the public health department had to wait for someone to get sick in a neighborhood before entering sanitary reforms."

Well organized gangs of juvenile criminals are operating in Boston, both in the poorer districts and well-to-do residential sections, Dr. Healy declared.

"Boys referred to us from one section of the city brought us in touch with three gangs, bands specializing in the stealing of automobiles," he said. "These boys are being drawn in and initiated into the work along the lines of apprenticeship."

EFFECT OF UNEMPLOYMENT
The effect of widespread unemployment is, of course, felt in the work of any such agency as ours, and solely from lack of work keeps older boys and girls from being employed. Unemployment seems to bring out all the bad qualities of boys and girls, and to increase the chances of their being drawn into the work along the lines of apprenticeship."

2 HELD IN WRECK PARK BURGLARY

Martin E. Kelley, 19, of Framingham, Dorchester, and Henry L. Banks, 19, of Metropolitan ave., were held by police today charged with burglary in a chain store in Hyde Park.

Kelley surrendered to Patrolman Luke Moran of Hyde Park station after a chase in which Moran fired three shots.

Hanks was arrested at his home, Moore, where he was found with a store were found in the possession of the stolen goods.

It is charged the two entered the store and stole a quantity of goods, including a cash register and a safe. Hanks had a crash of glass and held the police.

Moran and Patrolman Joseph Shapack and Joseph Dench received the two men, who were captured near the scene of the break.

A SLAVE MARKET OF THE EAST

Two thousand years ago, the slave market flourished in the East, flourished with the bodies of women and girls who were placed in lines, undraped, to await a bidder, while the slave trader, oily and suave, sat like a spider in the center of his web. With that idea in mind, Jerome painted this picture of The Slave Market, taking his locale from the Arabian Nights—and showed the horror of such traffic in human lives.

CAN THIS HAPPEN TODAY?

Today, the scene of the Slave Market has changed. At the top, the artist has shown how this new inquiry functions. First, the slave dealer "contacts" young girls, from 15 to 19 years old, going to schools, shops and factories for them. Second, the dealer "contacts" wealthy men—offering them the "loan" of these innocents for $300. Third, the party—house, vice. Below are three girls who have been called to testify concerning the activities of the "Love Bazaar" that has been uncovered in Los Angeles. Clarice Tauber, young schoolgirl victim, Helen Livingston and Alice Blake all told stories to the prosecutor. Today, Olive Clark Day, her common-law husband, William H. Jobelman, and a rich broker, John P. Mills, are held.

MRS. DOLAN TREATED FOR ALCOHOLISM

DOCTORS HEARD IN $500,000 WILL FIGHT

Mrs. Mary Dolan, who amassed a fortune as Mrs. Driscoll, was described today as a sane and determined woman who could not be dominated. The testimony was given at the resumed hearing in Norfolk Probate Court in the contest over her $500,000 estate before Judge Joseph R. McCoole.

Two brothers, two nieces and a nephew are seeking a jury verdict on her will in which Miss Elsie in filly was left the Back Bay modest shop for "faithful service." The brothers, Cornelius and Daniel Driscoll; the nieces, Josephine Mahoney and Margaret E. Stuart; and the nephew, Roland Mahoney, charge that when Mrs. Dolan made her will she was "an old and feeble, alcoholic, worn out and susceptible to influence."

Dr. Walter A. Rubin, head of the New England Sanatorium at Melrose, and Dr. Edwin A. Locke of Harvard and of the City Hospital staff, described Mrs. Dolan as she appeared to them while under treatment.

"SANE AND SHREW"

Both said she was a drinking woman and Dr. Rubin testified she was admitted to the Melrose institution "partly under the influence of liquor" but they maintained she was a shrewd business woman, not easily influenced.

Mrs. Dolan was a patient of mine from February 10 to March 31, 1928," Dr. Rubin testified.

In my opinion she was perfectly sane, could not be dominated, was very discriminating and could not be easily influenced.

"When she came she was partially under the influence of liquor, but had no liquor during the stay."

"She was coherent, rational, read the newspapers and was able to comment intelligently on the news of the day."

Under cross-examination Dr. Rubin admitted that a growth on her lip tended to depress her.

TREATED FOR ALCOHOLISM Dr. Locke told of treating her for acute alcoholism at a Back Bay hotel but denied he ever ordered her to a hospital for treatment.

"I did not know Mrs. Dolan was a drinking woman until 1925; until I treated her for her very much boozing liquor," he testified.

"She had a strong mental grasp on things and I never saw her under the influence of liquor so that she didn't know what she was doing. In my opinion, she was sane and not the type to be easily influenced."

Under cross-examination he admitted Mrs. Dolan feared the growth on her lip was a cancer and that at the time the thought depressed her. He is, however, that he told her it was not a cancer, but an inflamed growth that should be operated upon.

The girl gave several Boston addresses, but a checkup here has revealed all of them to be wrong. She gave her mother's name as Mary and mentioned Summer st., Eighth ave., Golden st., and Center st. at the said her aunt, Mrs. Charles Matile lived in Golden st., but the nearest to that is Gold st., South Boston.

HUNT FOR LOST GIRL RENEWED IN BUS CRASH

Search for Mary Pellegrini, 16, who disappeared from her home in Westland ave., Back Bay, last August widened today when it was learned she had lived or some time in a house suspected of harboring members of a white slave ring.

Special Officers Gordon Doucette and Joseph P. Hart talked with the girl's step-father today in an effort to learn the identity of her male friends.

The step-father, Francesco Pellegrini, told the police he had given up his work several weeks ago to devote all his time to the search.

The post card was turned over to the police. It read: "Be a good girl and don't forget your sister, Mary."

PASTOR CALLS MRS. PEABODY 'SNOBBISH'

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody is acting like a "snobbish aristocrat" and should not be "ally and hopeless search for a mythical Utopia," the Rev. Richard H. Morton asserted in a Sunday discussion of topics of the week, at the Community Church of Christ, Point of View, Boston.

The former Beverly woman who left Massachusetts because of illness repeated the "Judy Volstead" said a few days ago that she was considering leaving her present home in Florida, and going to Russia because of the lawlessness there.

"By some obscure process of reasoning," said the Rev. Mr. Morton, "she links prohibition, laws against opium and the 10 commandments."

Massachusetts has lost much in the departure of Mrs. Peabody, but its people do not take kindly to her attitude.

"She apparently has little faith in democracy. She is acting like a snobbish aristocrat, preying because she can't at once have her way. Is she right and strong that she won't fight? Is she quite using the struggle?"

Small high schools in the suburbs for commercial and technical students, with larger inland schools giving technical training, were advocated by Chairman Joseph J. Hurley, of the Boston school committee, at its 242d House today.

He reported in support of the school committee a bill setting up propositions for school construction and other purposes, which Chairman Frank A. Goodwin, of the Finance Commission, advised notice he would oppose.

Outlining the needs of the School Committee he said they had a three-year program calling for the expenditures of $18,000,000, and urged the enactment of legislation giving the committee $3,000,000 annually.

The committee's program, Chairman Hurley said, would eliminate money portable schools, but would still leave 100 to 150 in the city.

GENERAL ALARM FIRE MENACES BLOCK IS SWEEPED BY FLAMES; $15,000 LOSS

A general alarm fire raged through the Ross building at 270-272 Center st., Newton, early today, causing damage estimated at between $10,000 and $15,000.

Apparatus from Watertown answered the first alarm and added the Newton department in fighting the flames.

The first which apparently started in the first floor in a store occupied by the Newton Electric Fixture Company, was seen by Patrolman David Burt, who sounded the first alarm.

A number of tenements are located near the building and for a time it was thought the flames would leap to these buildings, occupied by hundreds of families.

Many families, awakened by the fire, dressed and prepared to leave their homes.

The second alarm was sounded by Deputy Chief Rand when he saw the proximity of the dwellings. The third alarm came shortly after, and brought Watertown apparatus to the blaze.

The flames had gained much headway when the blaze was discovered and were spreading rapidly by the time firemen arrived.

The building was a mass of flames on the first floor and the blaze was creeping into the second floor.

The second floor of the building occupied by the Central Railway Signal System, and damage by smoke and water was heavy there. In the rear of the building considerable damage was done in a garage.

EX-COP HELD AS WIFE-BEATER
Charged with assaulting his wife with a dangerous weapon, Thomas J. Doyle of Clarence st., Roxbury, was veteran and former Boston policeman, was held in $25,000 bail after he had pleaded not guilty in Roxbury District Court today.

Mrs. Bertha Doyle, 31, is dying at City Hospital from head injuries which police say were inflicted with a meat chopper in the hands of her husband. Doyle's case was continued to April 26.

Doyle struck his wife following a quarrel which started when he returned home intoxicated, police said.

The former policeman, who was dismissed from the force for drunkenness in 1921, told Inspector James P. Donohue that he had been involved in a bitter argument with his wife and she struck him on the face with her hand. He said that he lost his senses and could not remember anything which followed.

Mrs. Doyle said she reprimanded her husband and in the argument she struck him. She stated that her husband picked up a heavy meat grinder and struck her over the head.

Price Downward Arrested; Mixed Developments Still Rule

By R. C. Forster

New York, March 16.—Mid-March has brought no decisive change in business conditions. Favorable developments have slightly outweighed unfavorable developments. The improvement in sentiment is more pronounced than in actualities. The latter is being watched more closely than ever.

It is encouraging to find the general price level last week for the first time this month showed moderate upward advance.

"Bet a Million"
What's Become of Old Time Plunger?

RILEY GRANNAN TALE STIRS MEMORIES

"Another man called Riley Grannan. No one just like an army cannon!"

THE SONG George M. Cohan used to sing about the famous turf-plunger and bookmaker came back to us as we glanced over a recent edition of the Saturday Evening Post and read Wesley Stout's tale of Rawhide, Nevada, and what Riley Grannan, broke, penniless and living on the bounty of George Graham Rice and Nat Goodwin, died there, and of the funeral oration that was pronounced over him by W. Herman Kickerbocker, a retired minister who had turned gambler-miner.

Kickerbocker's funeral oration over the life of Grannan in the weekly Nevada Times was a classic. The tale of it long ago appeared in the magazine Adventure. The recent article is a rehash of the original story. But that's neither here nor there. The story on Grannan stirs memories of the long, Kentucky and of John "The Million" Gates and his partner, John Drake; Pittsburgh Phil, Mike Dwyer and other famous old time plunger.

JOHN A. DRAKE.

The last time we saw Riley Grannan was that memorable afternoon at Shoshone Bay when, shirtless and chewing on a long black cigar, he took all the Dundee money in sight when the black champion of Keno's met Henry of Navarre.

Grannan, Gates, Dwyer, Drake, Pittsburgh Phil bet on five and six figures. They make the plunger of today look like a pig.

There is more money wasted on the race courses of America than ever before in turf history. There are more thousands dollar bets made, and fewer ten and twenty thousand dollar ones. Big betting passed with the old plunger.

BOOTS and bludgeoning is the cause for the prevalence of thousands dollar bets. Buses and prohibition has made millions over night. Easy come, easy go. Follies who scarcely make $25 per week at their old job, through buses traffic began to make $25 per week. It is a queer twist of human nature, but few men are satisfied to play their own game. They have to try others. Much of the money made in bludgeoning passes on to the books.

But the books here don't get their money like the old-time plunger. No more. Not by the proverbial handful. Of recent years the secret approach to the old plunger was Arnold Rothstein and Chicago O'Brien. But secret of those days being in the same stable with Drake, Gates, Grannan or Pittsburgh Phil.

PITTSBURGH PHIL was the most romantic and colorful of all the old-time plunger. His right name was George E. Smith. He was a cock cutter by trade. He entered racing via. I was a Pittsburgh poolman, where he earned $15 per week. When he died of the dreaded white plague in Asheville, N. C., he left a fortune to his brother, Bill Smith, and a nephew named McCall. They promptly foreclosed, raised and entered himself, purchasing the Indianapolis and Denver clubs.

Unlike Pittsburgh Phil, many of the plunger died poor. There was Grannan and Dave Johnson, who won and lost several fortunes as bookmaker, player and owner. The great Roebuck belonged to Johnson. Jacques sported his silk.

Mike Dwyer, of the famous Dwyer brothers, Brooklyn bookies, was another who won and lost several fortunes, and was broke in health and pocket books he died. It was Mike Dwyer who backed James J. Corbett against John J. Sullivan.

THE Dwyer brothers inaugurated the vicious practice of entering false horses in racing races, betting thousands on a practical certainty, and meeting the run-up of the winners. At one time the Dwyers dominated the turf. Rhamanthus, Luke Blackburn, Hannover, Hindon, George Kinner, Bangor, Tremont, Kingston, Miss Woodford, Belle, B. Barnes, Longstreet, Rex Dixon, Inspector B, Rex John, Ben Brush, Rhamon, Panique, Handeking and Trevelyan. John, Phil, Mike, played of thoroughbred—spoiled the Dwyer silks.

Less than a century ago the turf was a game of chance. John played against on previous in the Futurity of 1907. Previous was left at the post. The race was won by Alkmetra, a silver plate. A week later Previous won the Futurity, without Dwyer having a penny down.

THE TWO Johns—Gates and Drake—both were immensely wealthy before they invaded the turf. Gates was a big operator in Wall Street. He had made a fortune in American Steel Wire, and had cornered Louisville & Nashville on the electric Morgan before he started plunging on the point. John Drake's father had a roll which would cover the whole state of horses. The elder Drake was a famous railroad builder and the governor of Iowa.

John W. Gates thought of sinking $100,000 on a prohibitive favorite. He several times won a cool quarter million dollars on a day's racing. Bill Dwyer, Rothstein, Chicago O'Brien, Collie Madden and other "plungers" of the present and near past never bet as much in a week as Gates often bet on a single race.

AS A RULE Gates won or lost without a flicker of an eyelash. He never crumbled when he lost on the level. But on one memorable occasion the famous plunger let the whole world—at least that part of the world that thronged a clubhouse at Brighton Beach—know that he had lost.

In a three horse race Gates had loaded the books with a cool $100,000 on Yankee Girl, 1 to 2, against a cheap plater and Gold Lady, 1 to 5. Too late to hedge was brought to Gates that certain insiders were backing Gold Lady off the board. The books must have been in for they accepted every cent of Gold Lady's odds.

Yankee Girl was left at the post. Gold Lady, off flying, centered away from the plater and won on the chinstrap.

JOHN W. GATES.

Gates hurried his imported French biplane on to the brick sidewalk in front of the clubhouse. "I—I and Dammit!" he bellowed, as loudly as disturbed the swallows in the clubhouse eaves. "I've been trampled! I've been trampled by a parcel of fools!"

JOHN DRAKE had a big stable which Enoch Wabster trained. He had a great jockey in Lynn. His Or Welles, Savable and Wyeth won such races as the Realization, the Futurity and the American Derby. His Lurline Blue, old gold shoulder straps, cuffs and cap were carried to victory in many races by Runnels, South Trimble, Graphic, Trinity Belle, Bonny and Jacque.

As long as the two Johns confined their betting to the Drake stable they were fortunate. When they started to play outside information they lost heavily.

NO, THE present time plunger are not betting in five and six figures like Gates, Drake, Grannan, Pittsburgh Phil and Mike Dwyer. The $1000 bet made today outnumbered the $1000 bet made in the old days, forty to one. But the big, very big money is not wasted on the turf.

But money today is poured on Harvard-Yale football games, the Pennsylvania results and big heavyweight fights. If you know the immense money made by Wall Street men on college football games it would amaze you. These bets are not made by plungers. They are made by financiers.

Buck Tells How Ape Amazed With Skill as Laundress

The happy antics of Gladys, the glenora orangutan, were told by Frank Buck in yesterday's installment of "Bring 'Em Back Alive." Today Buck recites more of the tale of Gladys.

Jungle life and stories of jungle life usually have tragic endings. But this chapter is different. The force of environment, indicated in the ability of Gladys to make her own bed, is further shown by her skill as a laundry girl. She liked her beer, did Gladys, and liking it, went to the right places to get it.

CHAPTER XV
Needless to say, I am not an animal trainer. Many animals that I have sold to circuses have been converted into fine performers, but I have no interest myself in teaching animals tricks or stunts. It is out of my line entirely.

This is not by way of saying that I am not interested in trained animals. I am; but I must add that I find it much more absorbing to watch an animal like Gladys go through some routine that she has picked up herself than to watch the antics of animals trained to do certain tricks under rigorous discipline.

One day I was passing Gladys under the edge of the house on my way to the compound. In my hand I carried a tin washpan of water in which I was soaking a big square piece of ordinary cotton cloth. It was about to use in washing a minor animal on the leg of a small animal.

A NONK LAUNDRESS
As I went by, my favorite orangutan reached up and snatched the cloth from my hand. Curious to see what she wanted, I stood by and did nothing. She was obviously interested in what I was carrying. It was the customary thing for her to examine anything placed in my hand. I never discouraged the practice, as I was on the look out for reactions that would throw some light on the past life of this animal that interested me so.

With both hands Gladys reached up for the washpan. I let her take it. She carried it two or three feet and then sat down on the ground with the pan in front of her between her legs. She removed the rag from the water and began to scrub it with her hands like a laundress. I was amazed it at once, removed it, put it between her feet again and snatched it out of her hand. I was about five minutes of this winding up. I was not at all surprised when she picked up the washpan and began to scrub it with her hands like a laundress. Then she carefully unfolded it and shook it out. She put it on a corner between her teeth she stretched it. Then she carefully unfolded it and shook it out. Macomber Wants Race Track Here

"As far as I know there is absolutely nothing in the New York report that Boston men are seeking to buy the Boston race track," declared John R. Macomber, today.

"But one of these days," continued the wealthy turfman, "I hope to see a race track opened in the vicinity of Boston where the lovers of the thoroughbred bettor in the sport of blood."

Other Boston turfmen who expressed ignorance of the story sent out from New York that a Boston syndicate was seeking to buy the famous race track here, declared John R. Macomber, today.

POLO SEASON BIG SUCCESS

The Boston Indoor Polo League concluded the winter season Saturday night, Yale winning over Harvard and Westwood defeating the local Field Artillery.

The season was the most successful in the history of the sport in this section from every angle. More teams, bigger crowds, a superior class of players and keener competition was responsible for this success.

Harvard won the George Plummer cup emblematic of the Class A league championship and say it was their third leg on the trophy took permanent possession.

Port of Boston News

By JAMES J. DELANEY
The Coast Guard cutter Mojave is standing by at the Charlestown Navy Yard awaiting orders which will send her out to the Grand Banks, Newfoundland, as one of the three cutters that will this year make up the International Ice Patrol.

The Mojave will be supplemented in the patrol by the Coast Guard cutter Tomahawk, which is available for similar orders in New York. The Coast Guard cutter Champlain will be the "stand by" boat of the ice patrol.

Since the sinking of the Titanic, the ice patrol has been maintained by the United States and other nations sharing the expense.

The purpose of the patrol is to warn shipping of the proximity of icebergs and other objects which come across the path of transatlantic shipping.

Based on the patrol in the Gulf of Mexico, the patrol will be maintained until June.

FOURTEEN PASSENGERS
Fourteen passengers arrived on the S. S. San Juan, called from Cuba, which is docked at Long Wharf after bringing a cargo of 20,000 cases of bananas and other shipments here. Capt. S. H. Henshaw reported a pleasant passage.

The passengers were: Mrs. Randolph Glover, with her children, Patricia and Nancy Glover, of Durham; Mrs. Mary W. Herbert, of East Milford; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bennett, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stokely, of Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Pennell, of Portland, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. P. C. C. Smith, of New York; and one of whom made the round trip "cabin" cruise. Chandler Hotel, employee of the company, boarded the ship at 7:15.

STUDY CURRENTS
An extensive study of water currents off Labrador is being made by experts now on the Coast Guard cutter Oregon. The study is along lines that will prove a benefit to transatlantic shipping. The study of the currents on the movement of icebergs will be determined.

TANKER PASSENGERS
Two passengers came to Boston on the tanker Edward L. Doherty, which is docked at the Mexican Petroleum Co. dock to discharge a cargo of oil from Aruba. In the Doherty were today the passengers which she was in the region of the tanker. Repairs will be made. Capt. John P. Lowe reported that John P. Kelly and Freveland Davis were the passengers.

DOCKED TODAY
The American tanker George W. Barnes coming here from San Francisco was forced to anchor in the stream and will dock today to discharge a cargo of oil. Capt. Walter V. Jones reported an uneventful voyage.
